Your AI, Your Rules: A Governance Framework for Leaders Who Are Done Winging It

30 to 60 Minutes | Keynote or Masterclass

Women are being asked to lead AI initiatives they did not design, govern tools they did not choose, and answer for outcomes for which they were not prepared. This session reframes AI governance as the leadership competency every woman in the room must own.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES — PARTICIPANTS WILL BE ABLE TO:

1. Name the four pillars of The C.A.R.E. Model and apply them as a decision filter for evaluating any AI tool.
2. Identify their organization's current AI governance posture using the CEBRAYA institutional readiness framework.
3. Articulate at least one governance boundary or policy they will advocate for in their leadership role

BEST FOR

Women's leadership conferences, organizational summits, professional associations, and entrepreneurial communities.

AUDIENCE TAKEAWAY

The four C.A.R.E. pillars can be applied as a decision filter to any AI decision starting today.

DOCUMENTED OUTCOMES

Drawn from live governance engagements across women's professional organizations, higher education leadership, and entrepreneurial communities, participants leave with a usable framework, not just awareness.
